Robyn Moroziuk wins tiebreaker in 21st Oilmen's championship

Three days of golf and good times all came down to a tie-breaking extra hole won by Robyn Moroziuk over Sean Hill in the Championship flight of the 21st Annual Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament. Tyson Stafford was third in the flight.

Moroziuk, Hill and Stafford joined the winners of the remaining 16 flights to accept their awards at Saturday night's windup banquet and dance at the A. G. Ross Arena.

Master of ceremonies Dave Hutton called for a round of applause for tournament committee chairman Don Mudryk and members Al Pankiw, Dave Cousins, Ken Ference, Lindsay Jenner, Ted Graling, Dwayne Vogel, Robyn Moroziuk, Tom Mudryk, Wayne Mudryk, Tyson Stafford, Pete Stafford, Al McDonald, Rodney Graus, Bernie Lavoie and Lyle Frisby.

"A lot of work goes into putting on this tournament," Hutton acknowledged, listing those involved in the various weekend functions as well as the course stewards.

"This tournament is a real pleasure for me," Mayor Lyle Frisby said. "I get to see a lot of people I only see once or twice a year." He thanked "each and every one of you for coming out" and added his appreciation for the support given the tournament.

Elk Point Oilmen's Association president Don Mudryk said the tournament had resulted from "lots of long nights in the garage," on the part of the committee members, but said it was all worth it.

Showers and surprises at Midwest Rodeo Association finals

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The Midwest Rodeo Association wrapped up their fifth season on Saturday at Lea Park, with rain showers and surprises at their final rodeo of the year.

Bob Cook opened the afternoon with thanks to "the 62 sponsors who made this school work," along with the members, judges and pickup men involved in the season's rodeos.

Cook said it had been an educational season for the participants, with safety an important issue.

"We don't let them out until they're ready to perform. We don't want to see that Onion Lake ambulance going down the highway."

Cook introduced Midwest Rodeo Association president Logan Brown, who was announcer for the afternoon, as well as Tiffany Benariuk, who led the singing of O Canada, association secretary Ann Maxwell and rodeo coordinator Hannah Durocher. Terry Franklin and Sheldon Franklin were pickup men for the finals, with Raymond Durocher and Association co-founder Keith Sidener doing the judging.

Sidener also put on an impromptu saddle bronc ride, calling on his past riding skills when a steer severely spooked his horse as he was flagging the roping event.

"These young kids did pretty good throughout the year," Brown said to start the show, a fact that became increasingly evident as the afternoon went on. Although rough stock competitors were few, they showed that many trips out of the chute gates had brought them increased confidence and improved riding technique.

Drew Franklin was declared Saddle Bronc champion for the year, while Bob Cook Jr. won the Bareback championship. Philip Durocher wrapped up the year-end Steer Riding title with a 72-point ride.

Timed events were popular all year, with numerous competitors honing their team roping and barrel racing skills. Header Regan Nelson and heeler Ross Maxwell took the year-end Team Roping honors, with the Junior Barrels championship going to Rachelle Dumont and the Senior Barrels title to Chantel Kinch.

A shiny new pair of boots went to the association's most active member, Bob Cook. Cook played multiple roles at the finals, serving as bullfighter for the steer riding, entertaining the crowd with a clown act during intermission, reviving the Roman riding act he perfected 20 years ago, and finally dropping down on one knee in the infield, before the entire audience, to offer a marriage proposal to a very surprised Ann Maxwell.

The season wound up with an awards banquet following the rodeo.

"Everything went very well." He thanked the golfers and sponsors, noting that "without them, the tournament would not be the success it is."

A plaque, honoring Bill Jennissen as "a guide and mentor to all who have put on this event, for his contributions and ongoing guidance," was presented by Al Pankiw and accepted by Murray Cochrane.

Recognition was also given to 2004 EPOA Oilman of the Year Marshall Kachmar.

Donna Golledge was the lucky winner of a handsome moose antler carving donated to the EPOA by its creator, Ernie Poitras.

EDITORIAL

Bouquets to local green thumbs

Perhaps it's a holdover from the summer's garden tours, but we can't help noticing the many beautiful yards right here in Elk Point.

The rural gardens, and those further afield, may have been the focus for those tours, but there's no doubt that many beautiful yards are located within the town limits.

The Canada Day committee toured every corner of the community just before the July 1 holiday, and had some inkling of the beauty that was to come, but even the yards that caught their attention at that time have improved with a few more weeks of growth, to lush displays that help Elk Point to look its very best.

There are challenges to gardening wherever you are, such as soil conditions, late and early frost and the absence or over-abundance of rain or sun. In town, gardeners also have to cope with the size restrictions their lot provides and the water bills that could be incurred in an extended dry spell.

Our local green thumbs have overcome the obstacles, and have created displays ranging from awe-inspiring banks of petunias to blossom-packed cottage-style gardens at least equal to those that grace the pages of gardening magazines.

Thanks to all of you for your efforts, which bring smiles to the faces of passers-by, and inspire the rest of us to go home and do likewise.

Keep up the good work!

Oilmen's golf, recreation funding

FROM THE ELK POINT REVIEW AND LAKELAND REVIEW FILES FOR THE WEEK OF AUGUST 24 IN...

1984

Pat Bekker won her second consecutive Elk Point Fair grand aggregate championship. Town Council submitted a funding application for the redevelopment of Markstad Park under the Canada Works program.

1989

Ken McCaw edged out Ed Soldan to win the championship flight of the sixth annual Oilmen's Golf Tournament. Town Council met with the Golf Club, Historical Society, Recreation Board and Tourism Action Committee to discuss many potential uses for a $66,666 capital grant and $13,333 yearly operational grants under the Municipal Recreation and Tourism Areas grant program.

1994

Elk Point Surface Rights Association honored departing Pan Canadian Petroleum superintendent Bryan Campbell at a reception in his honor. Art Britton won his second Elk Point Oilmen's Golf Tournament championship in three years. Elk Point FCSS packed up to move to their new home in the Peter Fidler Centre.

1999

Tom Parenteau was the first Elk Point Oilmen's golfer to win a Hole-in-One award, on his way to winning the championship flight at the 16th annual tournament. A combined effort by parents, teachers and students working together on positive changes saw diploma exam results climb 7.2% from 1997 levels, to equal the provincial average.

OUR VIEWS

Summer and parenthood a challenge

Some of you are probably wondering, "why is she talking about parenthood now?" Let me explain. Summer is almost over and to the parents of young children, your days of having your children at home will soon be over as the children will soon go back to school. Summertime and parenthood can sometimes be a challenge.

Beppie Harrison is quoted as saying:

"Walking hand-in-hand with a preschooler, watching your eight-year-old son chase your car up the driveway, his face alight with joy at having you home again, an after-midnight talk with your adolescent daughter struggling into her own womanhood - those will be the moments you will unfold and remember once the children are grown and launched on lives of their own. It seems only fair that we should enjoy them and give ourselves the time to enjoy them, while they're going on."

So there you go. Don't worry about what you were not able to accomplish this summer because your young children were around you a lot. Just enjoy your children. Tomorrow these days of today will be gone. As parents, we can choose to apply our talents in more arenas than ever before, but there are only a few of those places in which our influence is irreplaceable. This place is in the home with our children.

Emmeline B. Wells is quoted as saying: "Mothers, cling to your boys, do not send them out from you to see, hear and learn all the evils that prevail in this fast age, before their minds are capable of comprehending right from wrong." To single parents, Suzanne Little Dastrup said: "If you are to survive as a single parent, you must learn to lower your expectations about things that aren't so important and not feel depressed and guilty about what you don't get done." These are both good thoughts about spending time with your children.

Michaelene P. Grassli is quoted as saying: "Sometimes we are so busy regulating children that we don't take time to listen to them. If we would listen more, we could discover how to be successful with them. They are more likely to listen to us when they know they are listened to and understood." I hope you noticed that I didn't find someone who made a statement about the different activities you could do with your children nor did I find a quote about how much money you should spend on your children. The quote I found was about the importance of listening to our children. Listening seems to be key in any relationship - the work place, or the home.

What happens if we recognize that we haven't done very well as a parent? Susan Noyes Anderson is quoted as saying: "If an error has been made in our parenting, the best course is to recognize it, correct it and move forward, grateful that repentance is available and aware that perfect parents do not exist."

So there you go, parents! Hang in there and enjoy your children. Teach them, correct them, listen to them, and above all, love them. What our children will remember most is how we related to them. They will not really remember our love for them until they become parents themselves. So be patient, kind and loving. The fruits of your parenting harvest are yet to come.

"[Children] are more likely to listen to us when they know they are listened to and understood."

Cool back-to-school lunches

Between grade one and the end of high school, a student may take more than 2,400 lunches to school! But, how many of these lunches are actually eaten?

Boring lunch items are left uneaten, get traded, or thrown out - leading to the brown bag blues for you and your child. Creating tasty, nutritious and interesting school lunches is a challenge for many families.

With a little bit of planning and a few ideas, you can put together a lunch that not only tastes great, but also packs a nutritional punch.

Children are more likely to eat lunch if they choose what goes in it. Involve your kids in shopping for lunch supplies, but be prepared to set healthy guidelines.

The key is to choose a variety of foods, with at least one choice from each of the four food groups from Canada's Food Guide to Healthy Eating ...it's your key to good nutrition as well. Foods from the Other Foods Group can add variety, taste and enjoyment to lunches. Some of these foods are higher in fat, sugar, and empty calories - so use less of them.

Linda FOX

Registered Dietitian

Before going shopping, put your heads together to plan some lunch ideas. Make a grocery list and make sure that everyone has eaten prior to setting off to the grocery store. Remember that "specials" are more appealing to hungry tummies.

At the grocery store, let your child make some of the choices, for example, the type of fruit, cheese or bread. At home, involve your child in packing his lunch bag. Variety is one way to prevent boredom and make lunch a meal that your child looks forward to.

Keep foods fresh and safe to eat. An insulated lunch bag and ice pack will improve the taste of puddings, yogurt, drinks, sandwiches and cheese by keeping them cold. A frozen juice box works well to keep foods cold too and thaws for a cool drink by lunchtime. Yogurt tubes can be packed frozen; they will thaw by noon for a cool, safe treat.

Kids eat lunch quickly so pack fun and easy to eat foods. Here are some examples of foods that add zip to bagged lunches:

■ Convenient and healthy items include yogurt in a tube, cheese sticks, pretzels, bagels, carrot sticks, crackers and cheese and oatmeal cookies.

■ Left over pizza is always popular and, depending on the type, covers the four food groups!

■ Wraps are great because they are so versatile. Fill them with anything from peanut butter and banana to left over chicken stir-fry to veggies and cheese. Add variety by changing the flavor of the wrap - plain, sundried tomato, whole wheat and spinach all add a different twist to the same old sandwich.

■ Leftovers such as soup, stew, spaghetti sauce, macaroni and cheese, etc. can be frozen in small containers for use in lunches (providing they have access to a microwave.)

■ Wrap lettuce wedges and other raw vegetables separately or place them in their own containers to keep them fresh and crisp.

■ Make everything as easy to eat as possible: cut a tomato into wedges, an orange into quarters, celery, carrots and turnips into sticks, cucumber or zucchini into slices, etc.

■ Stock a selection of single serving foods in easy-open or pull-top cans for emergency use. They go from the cupboard to the lunchbox with no wrapping needed and can be eaten directly from the can. Choose from a variety of fruits and 100 % juices, baked beans, spaghetti with ground beef, several flavors of puddings and many other foods which are available in individual containers.

■ When serving a raw fruit or vegetable, be sure it is thoroughly washed.

■ Include a napkin; also a spoon or crackers when necessary.

Don't forget fluids. Growing, active children need lots of fluids. Not getting enough fluid can lead to dehydration, headaches, fatigue and difficulty concentrating. Have plenty of fluids such as water, milk and 100% juice available throughout the day.

Remember, school is where children go to learn, play and develop skills that will last them a lifetime. Help your children to be their best at school by fueling their days with healthy food choices.

THANK YOU

The Elk Point & District Agricultural Society Bench Fair Committee would like to thank the following businesses and individuals whose kind donations helped to make the 2004 Bench Fair a success:

Alberta Treasury Branch, Atco Electric, E-Can Oilfield Services, CNRL, B&R Eckels Transport Ltd., Elk Point Insurance, TD Canada Trust, Woody's, Cal's Home Hardware, Meadowview Greenhouse, Wozniak Bulk Fuels, Home Town Grocers, Empress Restaurant, Co-op, Elk Point Review, Apple Drugs, Tags, Cheri Lindquist, Pete Andrisbak.

Special thanks go again to Cal's Home Hardware for the loan of the ladders used to hang the quilts and also to the many quilt owners who loaned out their quilts for the Quilt Show. Biggest thanks of all go to the many volunteers who came out to help set up, run, and dismantle the Bench Fair and Quilt Show.

Frost on the roofs? Hockey season's on its way!

There was something in the air this past week. Is that frost on the rooftops in the mornings? It is, it is, frost reminds me of winter and winter reminds me of hockey.

Since I couldn't seem to come up with any sports news I had to call my old trusty buddy Mr. Don Cherry for a story to relate to you. Don just signed a new contract with the CBC Hockey Night in Canada so I called him to congratulate him. That's if there is a hockey season this year. Hopefully these guys can come to some agreement in the next few weeks. What if there isn't N.H.L this year, then what? Saturday night without the Leafs and Coaches Corner - oh, oh, this could be a disaster.

Anyway, I was asking Don how he got his break in broadcasting. It turns out Ralph Mellanby was the man who found Don Cherry for Hockey Night in Canada. The executive producer of show first met Don when the Boston coach barged into his studio.

"I met him when he was in his last year as coach of the Bruins. The Bruins were playing the Canadiens in the second game of the semifinals. There had been a fight, and the Bruins' Stan Jonathon had beaten someone for the Canadiens. Cherry had seen a tape of the game and wanted to know why they hadn't replayed the fight. He was told that they didn't replay fights. During the fourth game in Montreal there was another fight and in this one, Montreal's Mario Tremblay won the fight. He beat someone from the

doug BASSETT
Review Sports

Bruins. Suddenly Cherry isn't behind the bench anymore. Where'd he go? He's gone to the broadcast studio and was talking to the producer telling him he better not replay this fight because Montreal guy had won. In the middle of the game!"

And that's where Don got his start. I want to thank everyone who helped set up, sell tickets, bartend and clean up after the Oilmen's dance at the arena last Saturday night. This was a great fundraiser for our arena, and thank you to the Elk Point Oilmen for giving us this opportunity. Everyone seemed to be having a good time.

Don Cherry has his theory on golf. "Who would want to be a golfer? You meander along after a ball. No one hits you."

Well that may be true, Don, but my body feels like it was run over and hit by something. But, was that from the golf, or was that from the dance? Play it again, Sam!

And here's a chance to do it again, the Elk Point Lion's Club annual Night Golf is coming up on Saturday August the 28th. Call Leonard Gadowski and sign up for a great time.

Sports news, we're still looking for some sports. Give me a call or email them to sportshound007@hotmail.com

And now for the K. A. Campbell's quote of the week: "Between you and me, I think Don Cherry has been standing next to the speakers at an Aerosmith concert. His brain's a little rattled."

Last week's answer to: "What's the matter, son? Did you lose your mother?" "No, sir, I lost my fastball." - Exchange between a priest and ex-all star Gene Conley.

Summer Reading Program closes season with wind-up

Last Thursday the Elk Point Summer Reading Club wrapped up their summer with holding a year end wind-up. The day featured a "life-size puppet show" (bottom photo) put on by Dawn Lavallee and Tracy Schuh from the St. Paul Abilities Network (SPAN), reading awards session where awards were distributed to all attending kids (above), and the draw for the grand prize which was won by Kyle Pelletier. The program was run by Roseann Magdiak, who says a total of 64 kids were in rolled in this year's program.

Back to school... and back to normal hours at the library

By DAPHNE SCHNURER

Librarian

Our summer has come to an end along with our summer hours at the Elk Point Public Library, so we will not be open in the mornings, except for Friday, starting this week and for the rest of the year.

Back to school is a perfect time to join the library. We have a large selection of books for children and adults, magazines, movies and books on cassette. We also have internet access free of charge for public use.

Many new titles have arrived at the library over the summer and now is a great time to check out the latest new fiction and non-fiction in our collection. Moms, celebrate back to school by taking it easy with a good book!

If we do not have a book that you would like to borrow, we have a service called Tracpac that allows us to borrow books from other libraries in Alberta. Come in and ask us about this service.

When borrowing books from our library, they must be returned after three weeks. Movies and magazines must be returned after one week.

Storytime will be beginning September 10 at 10:30 a.m. All preschoolers and their parents are more than welcome to join us, free of charge. We will read a story and do a craft that is age-suitable. It is a great way to meet people in the community and an opportunity for the little ones to make some new friends too! Storytime is every Friday at 10:30 a.m.

Chuckwagon associations name 2004 champions

Both the World Professional and Canadian Professional Chuckwagon Associations held their season finals this past weekend, with the WPCA finals in Red Deer cut back to two days because of heavy rains which made the track unsafe for running.

Rick Fraser won his first World Chuckwagon Championship with the Kendal Pipeline and Oilfield Service wagon, with a clear 50-point margin over Kelly Sutherland.

Chanse Vigen won his first World Outriding Championship. Vigen and Reo King outrode for Red Deer Exhibition show winner Rae Croteau Jr. Darcy Flad was named the WPCA's top rookie driver.

WPCA's top wagons for the season were: 1. Rick Fraser; 2. Kelly Sutherland; 3. Norm Cuthbertson; 4. Luke Tournier; 5. Reg Johnstone; 6. Buddy Bensmiller; 7.

Jerry Bremner; 8. Troy Dorchester; 9. Hugh Sinclair; 10/11 tie - Herman Flad and Jason Glass.

Over in Lloydminster, the CPCA ran all four days, with Brian Laboucane and his Sidekicks Express rig backed up by Jamie Laboucane and Garrett Wyness as he won Sunday's dash for cash over 2004 high point driver Ray Mitsuing. Shane Nolin was third in the dash and Grant Preece was fourth.

Logan Gorst was named the 2004 high point outrider.

Bruce Morin won the Lloydminster Finals Aggregate by just 21/100 of a second over Brian Laboucane.

Ray Mitsuing won the season with a 39 point lead over Brian Laboucane. Shane Nolin, Vern Nolin, Grant Preece, Rod Salmond, Wayne Night, Jim Knight and Bruce Morin complete 2004's top 10.

Special Thanks

For the sympathy cards, flowers and meaningful words of condolences, following the loss of my mother, August 5, 2004. Your thoughtfulness meant a lot to me. Thank you.

The choice is yours.

Buying electricity in Alberta has never been easier. You can now choose between regulated rates or competitive offers – made available by energy retailers. While ATCO Electric is no longer selling you your electricity, we will continue to deliver it to your home. For your convenience, you will receive a single bill from your retailer, which includes ATCO's delivery charge. Questions about your bill should be directed to your retailer, but ATCO Electric will continue to be your contact for emergencies. We will still read your meter. And you can continue to enjoy the friendly advice and services of the ATCO Blue Flame Kitchen and ATCO EnergySense. So whatever decision you make about buying energy, you can always count on ATCO Electric to deliver your electricity in a safe and reliable manner, just as we have for nearly 80 years. Reliability you can trust.
